The problem of orphaned children's integration to the society is quite sharp for Ukraine. In one hand, we have rather a big amount of such children including the social orphans, in other the nowadays system of social care institutions does not provide the society with the support as to integration of orphaned children. The modern Chinese country started a program called “Raise the Quality of the Chinese Nation” that aims to integrate the orphans to the society on the principles of equal rights, excluding the cases of discrimination, raising their educational and self-consciousness level, moral qualities etc. Seeing them as an equal part of the Chinese society, the government does a lot for their self-realizing as a part of the society, having no inferiority complex using a wide range of activities both for the orphaned-children and the society in general. Orphans in China have no special conditions or prerogatives and use all the rights and opportunities as the other citizens of the country.
